

Sinclair stations use public airwaves at no cost and are obligated by law to serve the public interest. The trouble is that when corporations are controlling what gets put on the air, they are more concerned about profits than about serving democracy. Sinclair Broadcasting is demonstrating how dangerous media consolidation is, in its decision to force their stations to air an anti-John Kerry documentary shortly before the election. Unless the stations also give equal time and air pro-Kerry programs, they are presenting a distorted, unfair picture. Sinclair Broadcasting must not be allowed to air the anti-Kerry programming! .
